Work Starts on the Big Buffalo Dam

Citizens Point to Future Work in Canyon

Chamber Calls Upon Citizens Make Programs

Representatives of Many Lines of Interest In Canyon Give Ideas on Future of City

FUTURE IS BRIGHT

Many Ideas Are Given to Make Canyon a Better Town for Homes

Twenty-eight persons responded to the call of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors inviting them to a meeting last Friday to express their ideas on a year's work for the town.

The Chamber of Commerce had tried to secure the attendance of at least one representative from every organized body of the town and community.

The interests represented ranged from those wanting more playgrounds for children to those urging that an effort be made to establish Canyon as a wheat experimentation center. Practically every person present contributed one or more ideas to the meeting. The Chamber of Commerce directors will build the year's program after careful study of the suggestions made.

In viewing some tasks that have been started or completed in the community in the past year, it was noted that work on a Tierra Blanca Dam is now under way and that this project is to be finished within six months if sufficient men can be found for the work. This was promoted by the Chamber of Commerce. Attention was called to the extensive beautification that has taken place at the cemetery during the last 12 months. Still another was the two parks which have been developed.

The Chamber of Commerce will hold an open meeting in January to which every citizen of Canyon is invited. On this occasion Wm. M. Anderson who has been in charge of the National Park Service work at Palo Duro will speak on "Home Landscaping." This will be the first of a series of meetings which will help the ordinary citizen of modest means to make his home more comfortable and attractive.

Represent Groups

Those present at the meeting which was presided over by S. H. Condron, president of the Chamber of Commerce, were: Mrs. M. H. Rockwell and Mrs. J. V. Williams representing home demonstration Clubs; Miss Helen Lyle of the Episcopal Little House of Fellowship; Rev. Sam A. Thomas, of the Methodist Church; Rev. Alfred M. Dorsett, of the Presbyterian Church; Rev. Charles L. Wilson, of the Christian Church; Rev. J. R. Hicks of the Baptist Church; Jeff Wallace and Grady Persons, farmers; J. D. Hazlewood, County Attorney; T. V. Slack, member Canyon School Board, Mrs. T. M. Moore, president Book Club; Mrs. Ed Harrell and Mrs. J. W. Kleinschmidt from the Cemetery Association; W. A. Warren, president of the Rotary Club; T. M. Moore of the college faculty; J. W. Kleinschmidt from the American Legion; Irby Carruth, Superintendent of Canyon public schools; Mrs. Ray Campbell of the Band Parents' Association; J. A. Hill, president of W. T.; Helene Oliver, E. T. Evans, Frederic Forrester, and Clarence Hamilton, college students; Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Bureau of Public Service of the college; Delbert Lowes, Levi Cole, and Ray Campbell, Chamber of Commerce directors; Tom Langston, who acted as secretary.

General Snow Falls Over Entire Plains

Third of Inch of Moisture Is Received in Randall County

Snow blanketed the entire Panhandle Monday, bringing the first general moisture of the winter. The moisture amounted to .33 of an inch in Canyon, and was an average of this section.

Rain started early in the morning, but turned to snow before noon. The snow continued to fall until late in the afternoon.

Tuesday was the coldest day for more than a month. The temperature did not moderate more than 6 degrees throughout the day. The lowest temperature for the week was 19 degrees above zero, which was registered yesterday morning.

The moisture will be of great benefit to the wheat of the Plains. Much wheat has died because of the lack of moisture and it is hoped that the moisture of this week will save the wheat which is yet alive.

The mercury rose rapidly yesterday and much of the snow and ice was melted. The highways were so slick and dangerous Tuesday that highway officers advised all who could possibly do so to refrain from travelling on the pavement.

Park Work Will Close Saturday

Extension Three Days to Finish Water Line and Pump

Work at the Palo Duro Park will continue until Saturday. An order was received Tuesday extending the time for three days in order to complete the water line and set the pump in the well near the Rose home.

Under the present plan, the National Park Service will close its work at the Palo Duro Saturday afternoon.

The CCC Company will remain at the Park until after the first of January when it will be moved to the soil conservation camp north of Amarillo. The veterans camp near Amarillo will be disbanded at that time and the youth company will take its place.

Colonel Steve Ridings has been employed by the National Park Service to take charge of the government's property at the Park as soon as the CCC company moves out. Recruits are being received by the company at the Park and it will be built to full strength before it is transferred to soil conservation.

Supt. Wm. Anderson states that he has received no further orders other than all work would definitely close Saturday. None of the men in his organization have been transferred to other jobs, although it is likely that some will be retained in other branches of the National Park Service.

No word has been received here from the Texas State Park Board as to its future policy regarding the Palo Duro. W. L. Taylor will maintain service at the Park as he has in the past, but so far no arrangements have been made to keep the road in the park in condition. Unless the Park Board makes some arrangements for this work the road will not long remain passable to the lower part of the Park. Mr. Taylor and his company are not under contract to do this work, and the State Highway Department recently recinded its order to take over the road due to the fact that admission was charged into the park.

Many Will Go To Farm Meeting Friday In Hereford

A large delegation from Randall county will attend the soil conservation meeting in Hereford Friday which will discuss flood water control in this area.

County Agent W. H. Upchurch will accompany members of his county committee and members of the Commissioners Court to Hereford to discuss this problem.

Miss Frances Alice Clark returned Sunday from Los Angeles where she has been attending the University of Southern California and studying piano under Dean E. W. Grabill of that city.

Johnston Elected To Scientific National Organization

Prof. C. Stuart Johnston of West Texas State has been elected to membership in the American Society of Mammologists, an honor for which he was recommended by Prof. R. A. Stirtotn of the University of California.

Prof. Stirton has done much research in this area and is familiar with the work of the college scientist.

Prof. Johnston has had two articles accepted lately by scientific journals. One, entitled "A Preliminary Report on the Vertebrate Type Locality of Cita Canyon," includes a description of an ancestral coyote West Texas State and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society are said to have the best material of record on this subject. The article will be published by the American Journal of Science of New Haven, Conn.

The other article, "The Skull of Nannippus Gratus Leidy from the Lower Pliocene of Texas," will be used by the American Midland Naturalist, Notre Dame, Ind. This is about a three-toed horse found in Donley county. The museum has one of the best skulls in existence and numerous other specimens of this horse.

Buy Farms For Randall Tenants

Randall, Wheeler and Floyd Are Set Up For Farm Buying

Randall county has been selected as one of the three counties in Texas embraced by Region 12 of the Farm Security Administration where loans to tenants to purchase farms will be made this year under the new Bankhead-Jones Tenant Act, it was announced today by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace. Wheeler and Floyd are the other counties.

Announcement followed closely upon the meeting of the four-state Farm Security Advisory committee which recommended counties after an extensive study of farming conditions in West Texas. It was upon the recommendation of this group that the counties were designated by the Secretary.

In effect the announcement means that $69,792 will be available to tenant farmers in these three counties to purchase farms within the next several months.

Applications for farm purchase loans will be made to the County FSA supervisor, who in turn will present the application to a county committee of three farmer members. This committee, which is now in the process of selection, will consider qualifications of the applicant and will appraise and examine the farms to be purchased. The successful applicant must be a citizen of the United States; a farm tenant, farm laborer or share-cropper or a person who has recently obtained the major portion of his income from farm operations. The act provides that preference will be given to married persons who have dependent families and, wherever practicable, persons who are able to make a down payment or who are owners of livestock and equipment.

Persons desiring to apply for a loan under the provisions of the Act must reside in one of the designated counties and obtain an application blank from the County FSA supervisor. No loans will be made this first year in counties other than those named.

Grasshoppers to Increase During '38 Is Warning

Government Men Are To Make Fight to Kill Out Pests Over the Entire Plains

R. R. Reppert, Entomologist of the Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas, visited County Agent W. H. Upchurch Saturday. Mr. Reppert is making a survey of grasshopper eggs to determine as near as possible the need for poisoning hoppers in 1938. Grasshopper eggs are easily found at this time in clusters near the surface of the ground in grass land and along fence rows where the mature hoppers were numerous late in the season.

The survey which is now being conducted in co-operation with the U. S. Bureaus of Entomology is primarily for the purpose of estimating the need for poison and to locate areas where Federal assistance will be given in poisoning.

Grasshoppers may be poisoned near the place of hatching for about three weeks after the hatch comes out in the spring much more effectively than after they spread over the fields. The cost of poisoning small areas along fence rows is much less than to spread poison over all the land.

On the Canyon City Club property sufficient eggs were found in some areas to produce, under favorable conditions, about 500 hoppers per square foot. This would be more than enough to destroy the vegetation if all developed normally.

Conditions generally over the county, according to Mr. Reppert, at this time indicate that grasshoppers will be at least as numerous,

Buffs Take Fast Game Wednesday

Miners To Play Buffaloes Here Again Tonight and Saturday

The tall Buffs won another fast game last night from the Colorado Miners from the School of Mines, Golden, Colorado, by a score of 48 to 27.

The game was fast and furious. Many penalties were assessed against the players, largely due to the close guarding of the teams, and the speed with which the game was played. 17 fouls were assessed against the Buffs and 16 against the visitors.

The two teams will play again tonight at Burton Gym and a third game will be played Saturday night. The large crowd was given a thrill every minute of the game last night, which will likely bring out large crowds to see the coming two games.

The Miners took the lead at the first of the game by annexing a free throw. The Buffs landed a charity throw soon after, evening up the score. A few minutes later the Buffs took the lead which was never relinquished during the game.

Coach Baggett used his reserves freely throughout the game, the tall boys of his crew being entirely replaced during the last period. In all 12 men saw action on the floor last night. The score was 28-16, favoring the Buffs.

The Buffs showed up better last night than the team did against the Panhandle Aggies last week. All who witnessed the team in action last night were firm in their belief that the "tallest team in the world" would go places before the end of the season.

War With Japan Not Likely Is the Opinion of Pierle

Dr. C. A. Pierle spoke at the luncheon of the Rotary Club Tuesday discussing the Chinese-Japanese situation.

"The plane that dropped the bomb on the American ship from its front, dropped a note of apology from its rear," was the way Dr. Pierle described the present situation. Dr. Pierle does not believe that the United States will fight Japan, although there is a feeling among students of the situation that it would be easier to do the thing now which the nation will be forced to do later.

Russia will not fight Japan unless joined by England and the United States.

The League of Nations will not declare sanctions against Japan because it is an undeclared war, like the one Italy had with Ethopia.

The United States has an annual trade of 120 millions with China, and 2½ millions invested in China, all of which will be lost if Japan takes charge of China. A successful boycott cannot be carried out against Japan because the people of this nation demand silks.

If Japan wins control of China, a real Yellow Peril will exist. The United States would likely lose the Hawaiian Islands as well as the Philippines.

Dr. Pierle spent several years as a teacher in China and knows the traits and customs of both the Chinese and Japanese.

The Japs are aggressive and ruthless. They are not original, but imitate with inferior products. They lack raw materials and therefore have sought to gain control of the raw materials of China. School children are put in uniform and drilled as soldiers. When boys reach 18 they are put in the army for 3 years. When girls reach 18 they are put in factories for 3 years.

In their dealings with China, they imitate the example of Ger-

THE LITTLE HOUSE WITH THE BIG CHIMNEY

Engineers Are Here and Hiring Men For Work

Celebration To Be Put On Next Wednesday as First Dam Construction Starts

300 MEN TO WORK

Materials Are Now Being Assembled, and Men Called to Job

"We shall have 300 men at work on the dam within three weeks," stated William E. Flanagan, superintendent, who arrived here last Thursday afternoon from Washington to build the Buffalo Dam south of Umbarger. Mr. Flanagan was accompanied from Washington by C. W. Lawrence. Both are from the Department of Agriculture, under which department the work is being done.

Rapid progress has been made in the week that the men have been on the ground.

Machinery is being unloaded at Umbarger for the work. Steam shovels, trucks, tractors, and other machinery are being received.

Carpenters and assistants have been hired and will start building the offices and warehouses as soon as lumber is on the ground.

Interview Workmen

The first quota of men were interviewed Sunday morning. Employment cards were filled out by scores of men Monday and Tuesday. It is planned to have an employment office in Canyon until the office is completed at the dam site, after which men will be employed at the job.

Employment is opened for all who need work was the statement of Mr. Flanagan. Farmers will be given a chance to sign up for labor. Relief status will not be necessary for men to secure work was the word put out by the engineers in charge of the construction.

Cost Half Million

While the land for the dam has not been paid for, it is stated that the titles have passed and it will be a question of only a short time before land owners will receive their checks.

The entire project will cost something like a half million dollars, according to the latest information. In addition to the dam, recreational facilities will be built, and a road will run around the lake. A landscape engineer will be put to work about the first of the year drawing plans for beautification of the property.

Six Months' Job

It will require about six months to complete the job, and when the improvements are completed, the property will be turned over by the federal government to the Panhandle Water Authority to be run for the benefit of the people of this section. W. A. Warren, vice president of the Water Authority, states that orders have been passed accepting the dam, and that plans will be worked out to make this a real recreational center for Northwest Texas.

Workmen who are brought here will likely be housed in Canyon. The old Baltimore Hotel will likely be leased by the government and fixed up as a bunking place for the men who are away from home. While Mr. Flanagan has orders to establish a camp at the dam if necessary to house the workmen, he believes that it will be much cheaper to house them in Canyon if ample rooming facilities can be secured.

Celebration Wednesday

Plans are developing for the celebration of the dam next Wednesday. It was just one year ago that the first general meeting was held in Amarillo which started the movement to secure federal funds for the purpose of building dams and lakes over the Panhandle. Much has been accomplished during the short period of twelve months. It is fitting that the first annual celebration of the movement be held in Canyon since the entire program started with the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

The plans for the program next Wednesday are not complete, other than a meeting at the district court

ROOSEVELT AND JACKSON

Those interesting in knowing Roosevelt's point of view on the business resession should do a little reading on the fight in 1832 between President Andrew Jackson and the monied men of New York and Boston who then controlled the Bank of the United States.

Roosevelt is a great student of Jackson, adopted the slogan "New Deal" from one of Jackson's speeches, frequently quotes to his inner council, chapter and verse from Jackson's fight with the Bank.

Roosevelt considers his quarrel with big business almost identical, and here, very briefly, is the history of the Jackson fight:

The Bank of the United States had become the citadel of big business—at least in the eyes of western farmers and eastern labor from which Jackson drew his political support.

During the first term, Jackson attacked the federal bank, charged it had conspired with other bankers, newspapers and business leaders to depress economic conditions, scare small businessmen, influence the country against the Democrats.

There was some truth in this. Nicholas Biddle, president of the bank told the head of his Boston branch that "nothing but the evidence of suffering will produce any effect in Congress.

"This worthy President," announced Biddle, "thinks that because he has scalped Indians and imprisoned judges, he is to have his way with the Bank. He is mistaken."

Supporting Biddle and led by Henry Clay, Congress rebelled against Jackson in 1832, renewed the Bank's charter for four years, whereupon Jackson took the Bank's funds and placed them in "Pet Banks."

Jackson took the fight to the country in his re-election campaign and was sent back to the White House by a majority bigger than any previous or succeeding president except Roosevelt.

Among his close friends, Roosevelt compares his own re-election with that of Jackson's and the present rebellion of Congress with the revolt against Jackson.

His personal belief is that some big business leaders (though not all) ganged up on him and staged a big business sit-down strike to wreck the New Deal. Now their strike has gotten completely out of hand, and he believes, they are panic-stricken over the havoc they started.

To say that Roosevelt is angry at big business is to put it mildly, but he has told the inner council that the only thing to do is to cooperate with business until it can be pushed back on its feet.

Note: If the parallel between Roosevelt and Jackson is carried to the point where Old Hickory retired from office after eight years in the White House, it is rather disconcerting to note that the country immediately sank into one of its worst depressions.

A state which has $50,000,000 in cash is yet considered very, very broke. That is the story of Texas. The various funds of the state have plenty of money on hand, yet the deficit in the general fund and pension fund run the debts of the state up to more than $16,000,000. Passing of time will soon take care of the deficit in the confederate pension fund, but the deficit in the general fund will continue to grow. Everyone connected with the state government feels the need of an adequate accounting system which will balance the necessary outgo with the available income of the state. One good suggestion has been made for the next session of the legislature—incorporate all appropriations in one bill instead of passing several bills. This will give the legislature a full picture of the proposed expenditures of the state at one time instead of piecemeal consideration of state expenditures. In spite of progress which has been made in government the finances of Texas are handled in the same crude way as used in 1875 when the state constitution was adopted.

Wellington Leader: Newspapers in other towns are telling of inroads of peddlers making a cleaning. One of the favorite gags is that merchandise has been smuggled into this country duty free. Therefore they can let the buyer have a $300 coat for only $50. Past history in Wellington has been that such a coat could be bought on the market for $25, but the customers didn't find that out until their garments began to fall apart. The same system with a different song and dance is used on other lines. Beware of something for nothing from a person you do not know. There are legitimate house to house salesmen, but they have no talk of smuggled goods, etc. If you buy from a reputable firm and get faulty merchandise, which sometimes happens, you can take it back and get good stuff. When you get something you don't want from a peddler, there is no recourse, for you never see him again.

The Lindberghs are home, surrounded with the same secrecy that witnessed their leaving two years ago. No one criticises the Lindberghs for leaving at the particular time that they did. Few people in this section of the nation can realize the insults which were hurled at them whenever they appeared in public after the conviction of Hauptmann. To escape this they fled to England where criminals are treated like criminals instead of public heroes, as is often the case in this nation. It would be a severe loss to this nation if the famous couple were to leave America for good. Knowing the zeal with which news men would hound them, they chose to return in the same secrecy which enveloped their leaving.

It is predicted that the farm bill will be passed by congress this week. The bill will not please all farmers, as the interest of the various parts of the nation vary so differently. If the bill is finally based upon soil conservation, which now seems possible, a good work will have been done for the future of America. Congress is making faster progress with the bill than was predicted a month ago at the opening of the special session. Such leaders as Marvin Jones, who understands the farm problem, are doing wonderful work for the benefit of the farmers of the nation.

WHO PAYS FOR ADVERTISING?

We are often confronted with the question, "Who pays for advertising," and everyone seems to think that he or she is the one who indirectly pays for the service of this great servant, advertising.

The following article was written by John H. Casey, professor of journalism and advertising in the University of Oklahoma and is on the way to becoming a newspaper classic:

What is advertising? One form of salesmanship.

Purpose? To sell.

Who pays for it? John and Mary Public say they do, indirectly.

Soloman Issac Business Man says he knows too well that he pays for advertising.

But I say the customer does not pay an advertising bill if the advertising is effective, efficiently done, run in the right medium at the right time, and is in every other respect, right.

For when greater demand for goods is created by advertising, more goods can be manufactured in larger quantities, and shelves restocked at less cost per unit of production per item of merchandise, in consequence of that created demand, either at less cost or with more quality at the same cost—which amount to the same thing.

There you have the theory of mass production and quantity buying packed together in a pecan shell.

Yes, the merchant is sure he pays the advertising cost. But I say he does not, for the larger the volume of business the retailer can do the less his percentage of overhead, of which advertising is but one of the many items. No more light, no more heat, no more of several other overhead items required for $110,000 turnover than for $100,000.

Well, if the customer doesn't pay and the merchant doesn't pay for advertising—then, who does pay for it?

Why, bless your soul! The truth of the matter is that effective advertising is self-supporting, self-liquidating. Nobody pays for good advertising, unless, if we must find somebody to pay for it, I guess it comes pretty near being the non-advertising merchant who pays—and pays—whose overhead goes up as his sales volume goes down—he and the non-advertising customer who always buys blind, fails to read the ads and in consequence gets stuck with inferior non-advertised goods, at higher prices than he need pay.

And there you have the answer to the old, old question: Who pays for effective advertising, in the final analysis? Not the buyer of advertised goods, not the merchant who sells the goods and uses the advertising space but the non-advertiser who fails to get the business and the non-ad-reading public.

The statements in these last two paragraphs, it seems to us, not only supplement but add emphasis to the truths which the releases providing by consumers information are going across to the buying public.—Ex.

Gilmore-Taylor Selected Best Dance Team

Helen Gilmore, representing Delta Zeta Chi, and Jack Taylor, representing Epsilon Beta, were selected as the best team at the backward dance held by the pep squad Friday night in Cousins Hall ballroom. The feature attraction of the evening was the dance contest in which campus organizations vied for honors. Runner-up in the contest was Ruth Campbell-Wilbur Wofford.

Other couples reaching the finals were Dorothy Morgan-Charles Hoover, and Rachel Kidd-Raymond Raillard. Judges were Clay Timmons of Denver, Colo., and Dale Carpenter of Beatrice, Neb.

The floor show consisted of a tap dance by Nell Stevenson, two popular songs by Houston Bright, and also two numbers by Mary Ann Baird. The accompaniments were played by Weldon Bright.

Girls not only asked for the dates, but also did the tagging at the dance and bought the refreshments at intermission, which were sandwiches and punch sold by the pep squad.

Pick Harmon and his campus orchestra furnished the music.

Sponsors for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dougal, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cox.

A cast aluminum skillet would give a lot more pleasure than a jewel box, a vacuum cleaner would be more of a treasure than a diamond, an electric razor would mean more every day enjoyment than a dozen boxes of cigars, an electric refrigerator would contribute more to better living conditions than an automobile. Dr. A. J. Stoddard, superintendent of schools of Denver, has been secured as one of the main speakers for the conference, it is announced by Supt. Chas. M. Junior Colleges Reduced in Number Opening W. T.

There were eight junior colleges in the Panhandle section in 1910. West Texas State Normal, as it was called at the time of its opening in that year, was one of these.

The others were the Baptist academy at Canadian, Seth Ward and Wayland at Plainview, Goodnight college which was established by the late Col. Goodnight as the Panhandle's first college. Clarendon college, a Christian college at Hereford, a Church of Christ college at Lockney, and a Presbyterian college at Floydada. Of these towns, only Clarendon and Plainview (Wayland) have junior colleges, but Amarillo junior college has been added.

West Texas State is a senior college of the first rank and offers Masters degree work of particular value to teachers. Under a resolution of the board of regents last week, however, West Texas State will confer degrees without requiring courses in education, to those who do not expect to teach. Previously 12 hours work in education was required except in the instance of Business Administration majors, who received the B. B. A. degree. In other words, students not expecting to teach may obtain a general education or do their pre-law, pre-engineering, pre-med, or other preparatory work at the local institution.

"A little over a year ago someone suggested water conservation in West Texas. A few citizens gathered to discuss this. Things began to move. Washington had said definitely that not another dime would be spent for water conservation, but this was changed, and now ten million dollars will be spent on water conservation projects in the plains area. Tierra Blanca Lake will be finished in six months. We should prepare to use this lake in all the ways possible."

Remove Eyesores

"Just north of town is a junk yard that people have to see when coming from two directions on the highways. This eyesore should be cleaned up."

"Canyon's Chamber of Commerce has been instrumental in making the homes of rural women more comfortable."

"We have two small parks which are beauty spots. We now need a good many quarter blocks or small plots for children in town to play in."

Help Young People

"There should be a recognition service in Canyon this spring or summer for all the young people who come of age this year to help them realize that they must now take a vital part in the civic affairs in the town, state, and nation."

"Having grown up in a most conservative community which looks back on its maximum attainment, I think it quite a privilege to come to the Panhandle of Texas where people look forward."

"The Canyon School Board is behind anything that the Chamber of Commerce wants to do for the advancement of Canyon."

"The work which we have already done on our local cemetery has gained recognition and letters from places more than a 100 miles away. Additional trees will be planted and other improvements will be made at the cemetery this year."

Better Lighted Town

"We need stop lights on the highway through town."

"We should like to hope for a club house or other building which can be used as a meeting place for many organizations."

"It does seem to me that we might put more stress on beauty. Canyon is a well laid-out town and can be very pretty. Ice cream cartons and papers should be kept picked up rather than trust the wind's carrying them away. More civic pride will be a help."

"It is easy for a new-comer to make suggestions, not knowing the problems involved, but it seems to me that Canyon should capitalize on Palo Duro Park."

Interest Students

"By consolidating programs at the college it might be possible to get more students interested in the church program which in turn would help the college."

"I should like to see the consolidation of all the schools in the county. A band leader who can also direct playground activities in the summer is greatly needed."

"We need vision; we need men and women who are looking way down the future and trying to build a better town."

"My dream is that some of these days Canyon will be the center for the development of girl and boy leaders for the West Texas area."

Jones Is Invited

It is hoped that Congressman Marvin Jones will be here. He has given the water conservation program his efficient backing, and the federal appropriation for the dams and lakes in this territory was secured through his influence.

HOORAY! FOR THE STUDENT COUNCIL

We really have a Student Council or Student Clearing House which is functioning.

They have set up a fire drill system; are working out the safety patrol idea, are working on the noon period, are considering student handbooks, and are meeting each Friday morning when they take into consideration various problems of the school. They are beginning by discussing problems which have been in the student opinion column.

Here's to your student clearing house! We're backing you 100 per cent. Keep up the good work!

Student Opinion

REGULAR ATTENDANCE PAYS

When a student is absent from school maybe the class will discuss the lesson that the class had for that day, and when the student returns to school he has to write the answers to 29 or 30 questions, something that the class never discussed. Why don't the teachers give the students just what they missed, because if the student is there, he won't have to write the answers to any questions. If the student is sick and can't be at school, I don't see why he has to do three times as much work as the other students.

Rayburn McKee.

TEACH THEM TO CHOOSE?

Most of the students of this school don't know any better than to get "gushy and gooey" over such authors as Zane Grey, Harold Bell Wright, Kathleen Norris, Grace Livingston Hill, Gene Stratton Porter, and Edgar Rice Burroughs, etc.

Now I don't say that those authors don't write good books, and certainly our library contains many really good books. What I'm trying to put over is the fact it is a waste of time to read such "stuff." When you have read one of these author's books you have read them all. Every time, what happens? The hero and heroine go through many trials and hardships but at last find peace with each other. Ughh!

I propose that we ship in some more Victor Hugo, Albert Payson Terhune, or any other good author, capture some of these Junior Literary Guild books and get a lot of these books in which the best short stories and novels are compiled.

I believe that if the students were just shown the difference betewen good and gushy fiction and how to choose authors, they would profit a great deal and would never read shallow fiction again. It's an injustice that most of the students don't know what type of fiction they are reading.

Martha Frances Campbell.

HUTTO RESIGNS TO COACH AT CLARENDON

Emil Hutto, coach of football and teacher of seventh grade history in Canyon High School, left Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Clarendon, where he will teach mathematics, physical education, and coach football.

Three weeks ago the coach at Clarendon resigned and Mr. Hutto was selected to fill his position.

Mr. Hutto said, "I am taking this position because it is a better job, but I won't be against you. If at all possible I'll be down there on the side line next year rooting for you."

No teacher has been elected yet to take Mr. Hutto's place in high school. A substitute teacher will serve until one is elected.

J. D. Breitling Leads Eagle Cagers For '37-'38 Basketball Season

J. D. Breitling, junior, was elected captain of the '37-'38 basketball team Friday night, immediately before the game started with Plainview.

J. D. is a letterman of last year and is playing his last year for the Eagles this year.

J. D. has been active in all of his school affairs, and has taken an active part in other organizations also. He is now parliamentarion of the junior class and president of both the local and district chapters of the F. F. A.

Dr. Cook Speaks To Faculty Club

Dr. Harris M. Cook spoke on Professionalization of Canyon Teachers, at the faculty study club held at the home of Miss Elva Fronabarger, last Thursday evening.

Defining "Profession," Dr. Cook said that, "membership should be based upon selective education, ethical action, belief in worthwhileness in the work one does, membership in organizations, and a code of ethics to hold to the best that thinking can find."

He also said that if one were going to be a teacher, he should feel that teaching is a joy and have a pride in what his pupils do or accomplish.

Dr. Cook believes that a teacher should not load himself with too much professional reading, but that a teacher should read at least two magazines, one in his special field and one in the general field. The teacher should read at least two books a year on something within his profession.

After this speech the faculty joined in a round-table discussion on the same subject, with Miss Lois Goodrich acting as chairman.

The group then were served by Miss Fronabarger and I. B. Carruth: chicken salad, olives, smacks, potato chips, fudge cake, Christmas candy, and coffee.

Eagles, Eaglettes Open Season

Playing the initial games of the opening of a new season, the Eagles and Eaglettes won two games and lost two games.

The Eagles were beaten by Plainview Friday night with a score of 26 to 16. Lovvorn, Bulldog forward, held high-point honors with 10 points. D. A. Butler, Eagle guard, was next with 6 points.

The Eagles ' second team won from the Bulldog second team with a 20 to 17 score. Eslinger, Bulldog center, held high-point honors with 12 points. Hollabaugh, Eagle center, was next with 9 points.

The Eaglettes went to Happy Saturday night and lost to a strong Happy team by a score of 8 to 45. Happy had won the Hartley tournament last week.

Oma Evans, Happy forward, held high-point honor with 22 points.

The second string Eaglettes won a hard fought game with a score of 25 to 22. Mary Horn and Sunshine Hardin, Eaglettes, tied for high-point honors with 12 points each.

Both Eagles and Eaglettes show plenty of spirit and fight.

Lorraine Kniffin enrolled in the senior class last Monday. She came from Portland, Oregon, and her hobby is collecting telephone directories.

Miss Ruth Lowes Reviews Book

Miss Ruth Lowes reviewed Dr. Winfred E. Baine's book "Parents Look at Modern Education" for the Parent-Teacher Study group last Thursday afternoon in the grade school music room. Mrs. Ray Campbell gave the devotional.

Last year this book was awarded by the Parents magazine as being the most significant book of its kind. "After I read the book, I carried it around in my arms; it seemed to hit the spot so many times," Miss Lowes said.

Miss Lowes, in reviewing the book brought up questions and answers about the grading systems, methods of teaching, teachers, school equipment, home life, the school that used to be, and discipline in the schools of yesterday and today. In closing, Miss Lowes said, "The reasons I like this book are the following: It is readable; it is practical; it touches so many different phases of modern education; and it is good not only for parents, but for any other person who deals with children.

Miss Lowes had the privilege of being in one of Dr. Banes' classes and gave several personal slants on the author.

HOMEMAKERS AND FARMERS MEET

Sixty-five Future Farmers of America and Junior Homemakers attended the first joint meeting of the two clubs this year last Thursday night at the high school auditorium.

The presidents of the clubs, Margaret Stewart and J. D. Breitling, had charge of the program and introduced Mr. Morris, sponsor of the F. F. A., who discussed the purpose of having joint meetings. Miss Freeman, home economics teacher, gave "education and having a good time" as the two main advantages of the clubs' meeting together. Miss Anglin, English and dramatics teacher, gave three dialect selections, "Mrs. Levinsky's New Automobile," "Changable Lucille," and "The Purple Shirt,' and Helen Johnson talked on "Courtesy," stressing the point that we should be courteous everywhere, not only at home and at school. Three short films were shown by Mr. Morris and music by the Hayriders provided further entertainment for the evening.

The two clubs were served refreshments of sandwiches, cocoa, and cake, with whipped cream, in the home economics room following the program.

Several more such meetings during the year are planned.

ALLRED SELECTS CARRUTH

I. B. Carruth, superintendent of the Canyon Public School, has been appointed on Governor Allred's "Traffic Safety Committee." He will talk over the radio on Safety in January.

Mr. Carruth was already District Safety Chairman of the Parent-Teachers Association. His duty as district chairman is to promote safety and the teaching of safety in this P. T. A. District. The Eighth District includes all of the counties of the Panhandle. Supt. Carruth was made chairman of the District Committee in 1934.

Mr. Carruth's appointment to the Governor's committee was because of outstanding work in the district. The purpose of the Traffic Safety Committee is to find and study problems concerning the state course of study for the schools of Texas. The appointment is indefinite.

A Safety magazine is published by the district monthly. The purpose of this magazine is to promote safety measures in the school. Mr. Carruth will be called on for help in publishing this magazine. An article by him will appear soon in the Texas Parent-Teachers magazine.

Station KGNC of Amarillo will feature Mr. Carruth on January 4. His subject will be Safety.

Rev. Thomas Speaks In Assembly

The Rev. Sam A. Thomas, pastor of the First Methodist Church talked to the students in assembly, December 9.

He compared the game of life with a footballgame. He referred to God as the referee, and one team as the devil's men and the other Christ's men.

"For my sake get in there and win that game," were the words that the S. M. U. captain used as he was carried from the field several years ago when S. M. U. played the Texas Longhorns. There were only four minutes left to play and Texas was leading S. M. U. 6 to 0, and after the S. M. U. captain left the field, S. M. U. scored a touchdown and kicked the goal to win the game 7 to 6. Mr. Thomas said that this was an example of determination.

Mr. Carruth made several announcements pertaining to the work of the Student Council and its advisors.

MR. BROWN RECEIVES DEBATE MATERIAL

Pampa Wins First On Paper

Lillian Chambers Attends Convention As Representative, Eagle's Tale

Winning second place last week in the contest of the Texas High School Press Association, the Eagle's Tale took state honors for the fifth time in its four years of membership in this association. This is the first time that the paper has sent a representative to the convention. Lillian Chambers, editor, attended the convention in Denton last Friday and Saturday.

The Little Harvester, a one page high school paper from Pampa, won over the Eagle's Tale this year. The Breckenridge Dynamo, which won first in the state contest last year, placed third. Last year the Eagle's Tale placed second; in 1935, third, and in 1934, first. In 1935, Mary Collins' news story won first place. Averaging the four years in which the Eagle's Tale has entered this contest, the paper ranks as high as any paper in Texas.

Austin Wins First

The Austin Maroon, Austin, Texas won first in class A high school papers, and was also awarded the trophy for being the best edited paper in the state. The Abilene High Battery, Abilene, Texas, was ruled the best paper edited by a girl. In Class B high school papers, Odessa won first place. Lubbock Junior High School won first place in mimeographed papers.

First place winners in the separate news story contests were: editorial, Arlington Heights High School in Ft. Worth; column and sports story, Austin High School in Austin; and feature and news story, Abilene High School in Abilene. The yearbook from Tom Jefferson High School in San Antonio won first.

The convention opened Thursday evening with an open house dance sponsored by the Journalism Club of Texas State College for Women.

Hubbard Welcomes Journalists

The journalists were welcomed Friday morning by L. H. Hubbard, president of Texas State College for Women, and Mary Ann Walker, president of the student body. James Monroe of Austin, president of the Texas High School Press Association, gave the response.

F. L. McDonald, sponsor of the Texas High School Press Association, and director of journalism in Texas State College for Women, introduced Bob Miller of San Marcus Academy, who sang "The Big Bass Violin."

Lester Jordon, director of the School of Journalism, Southern Methodist University in Dallas, made the principal address of the morning session. He said, "It is the purpose of your paper to interpret the school to the student body and to interpret the student thoughts back of the administration; to create a wholesome student ideal.

Paper Contributes to School

"Your paper is really a contribution to your school. The school is letting you use its name. That is the greatest thing it could give you to uphold.

He concluded: "If you give your school cooperation, thoroughness, accuracy, truthfulness, courage, impartiality, fairness, decency, honesty, constructiveness, attractiveness, and democratic ideas, then your school has a paper which it should be proud of."

Friday afternoon sectional meetings were held on the editorial, yearbook, and business divisions.

Frank Rigler, department of journalism, Texas State College for Women, opened the editorial division with the question, "Shall We Go Streamlined?" He said, "Clever writing is no substitute for good news coverage. Make your paper good; then start on individuality."

Loveless Addresses Students

"They Want More Pictures" was the subject of an address by W. M. Loveless, instructor of News Photography in Texas State College for Women.

"I think the editorial page is the weakest in the papers I have read," said Mr. McDonald when discussing the subject, "They Don't Want To Read It."

He said, "You talk about honesty and friendship. Of course that's all right, but they don't wanta read it.

"Most of you are constructive. You want to tear everything down. You can't preach them into doing things. It's really not the primary purpose of the high school paper to do the disciplining.

Keep Running Same Subject

"Don't just run one editorial then drop the subject. Plan campaigns and keep pouring it on."

Amalese Gough, last year's editor of the Lasso, the Texas State College for Women school paper, and assist publicity director of the department of journalism at Texas State College for Women spoke on columns and on human interest stories.

J. W. Ridings, director of Department of journalism at Texas State College for Women who talked on the sports page, said, "Let the sports writer go to skull practice to find players particular contribution. The motto on my desk is 'You can't write sports from the office.'"

The annual Texas High School Press Association Banquet was held on Friday evening in Breckenridge Hall. R. E. Jackson, professor of government at Texas State College for Women spoke, and May Peterson, a Metropolitan soprano, entertained. The last event of the day was a dance with Floyd Graham's orchestra playing.

Students Speak Saturday

Short talks on problems in high school newspapers today were given Saturday morning by high school students before the officers for next year were elected and the winners of the contests were announced.

Robert Byers, Arlington Heights High School in Fort Worth, Tom Shoop sports editor of the Highland Park High School newspaper in Dallas, Jacqueline Matthew, Victoria High School, Betty Jane Edwards, Gladewater High School, Ruth Patillo, Austin High School, W. F. F. A. BOYS GO TO LUBBOCK SATURDAY

Milton Morris, advisor, and 17 members of the Canyon Chapter of the Future Farmers of America went to Lubbock December 11 to take part in the butchering of two hogs under the supervision of Dr. F. G. Harbough, associate professor of Animal Husbandry, and his assistant, Reid Fields, a student of Texas Technological College.

The demonstration started at 10 o'clock in the community butchering house station on the college grounds.

After Dr. Harbough stuck the first hog, several students took turns going through the motions of sticking a hog, getting the feel of the procedure and practicing the correct handling of the knife.

The members did the scalding of the hogs, and after Dr. Harbough had showed the boys the correct procedure in removing the viscera, Glyn Persons butchered the other hog, following the instructions and occasional help of Dr. Yarbough.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the members watched another demonstration and heard an explanation of the cutting of a side of pork into wholesale cuts. The members were divided up and cut the three remaining sides.

The boys also went to the Experiment Station to look at the planted young trees. They saw meat that had been preserved in cotton seed oil for over three years.

The following boys went there and participated in the butchering: Jack Middleton, Mabry Vandergriff, Glyn Persons, Glen Campbell, Glen Moss, J. D. Breitling, Barnett Ball, Billy Davis, Dale Brock, Dyane Ford, Alvin Kuhlman, D. A. Butler, Douglas Brasuel, Charlie Gerald, Frank Hollabaugh, Lewis Tucek and Ray Stevens.

At Last The Student Council Will Function---Under New Name

At last it has happened! The student council is beginning to function, but under another name, the student clearing house.

After the many buffets it has received this year and after the last two issues of the Eagle's Tale containing student opinion, matters came to a head and action began.

The student council was made up of two representatives from every class and a president elected from the student body at large.

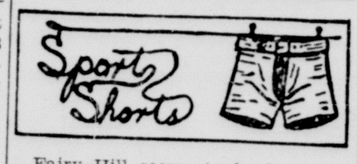
It now also contains the five presidents of classes and other especially invited thinkers among the student body. Every Friday morning at 8 o'clock this group meets in the auditorium. It is open house meeting and any student, teacher or Patron, is invited to present his opinions, make any desired proposals, or enter into any discussion.

Various problems of Canyon High School were discussed by the Student Clearing House in the high school auditorium at their first meeting last Friday morning.

A safety patrol was endorsed by the committee, and immediate action will be taken to organize the patrol. Members of the patrol will not interfere with traffic but will direct the students in crossing the street at designated places and prevent them from running out into the street in the middle of the block.

The noon period problem of giving all the students something to do was considered, with such things as group singing, co-ed dancing, and changing the radio from the auditorium to the study hall were discussed but not definitely voted upon.

A student handbook was suggested by I. B. Carruth, superintendent of schools, as a project of the year. The handbook, if adopted, will consist of curriculum, organizations, library rules, and other regulations, fees, and activities of the school.



Fairy Hill seems to be having a hard time getting football out of his system. Last Friday at the basketball game Fairy accidently passed the ball to one of the Plainview boys, but as soon as he realized what had happened, he whirled around and tackled the boy, only to give the boy one free goal.

The Happy girls have a very strong team. They have also won the Hartley tournament. In their first game they defeated Perico 28 to 17. The second game was with Spearman which they won 27 to 10. In the finals Happy beat Phillips 40 to 23. The Cowgirls will play Lockney Friday night. Lockney has dropped to Quitaque, their only loss this season.

In boys basketball the Wayside team has not as yet been beat and has won from Happy, Hereford, and W. T. Demonstration.

The Eagles won the district one basketball championship last year and have good prospects of winning this year, but they will have some hard competition.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

AUSTIN.—Most of the members of the Texas congregational delegation have notified Texas Highway officials that they will oppose any effort to slash Federal highway appropriations for 1939, and, at the week-end it appeared likely that the battle promised by President Roosevelt's recommendation for a heavy reduction of U. S. Highway money, which the States match, might be delayed until the regular session of Congress in January. Senator Tom Connally advised that he was definitely opposed to the slash. Senator Morris Sheppard declared, after consideration, he believed the highway allocation should be the last Federal economy to be made. Virtually all the Representatives, except Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, of Bonham, gave similar assurances. Rayburn, being the President's spokesman in the House, is in an embarrassing position, with sentiment in his home State almost unanimously opposing the stand he apparently feels he must take out of loyalty to the administration. Texas would lose around twelve millions of highway money, if the plan goes through, and, according to Highway Commission Chairman R. E. L. Bobbitt, the state's road program would be set back five years thereby.

Governor's Race

More jockeying for position in the Governor's race marked the week's developments. Jim Ferguson revived the Ferguson Forum, and the first issue carried nothing new or startling, except an endorsement of the long-dead Townsend plan of $200 a month pensions for all old folks. Jim laid down a six-point platform for the next Governor's race, including a two percent sales tax, $30 a month pensions for all over 65, and drastic economy in government. He did not commit himself on whether he would have a candidate, or if so, who it would be. Political observers here saw no reason to change their previous prediction that Ma would not run.

Meanwhile, Austin was highly excited over a highly circumstantial rumor concerning the acquisition of some stock in the Forum by Gov. Allred. The report, allegedly based upon a statement of a political friend of Attorney General Bill McCraw, was to the effect McCraw had shown this friend an affiravit, made by former Ferguson employee, stating that the latter had recently sold ten shares of stock in The Forum to Allred for $500. McCraw, asked by this reporter for confirmation, declined to comment, saying, "There will be a lot of surprises sprung in this campaign and it's going to be a long, hot, summer." Governor Allred, asked for comment, said: "That's very funny. I haven't bought any stock in The Forum, and I don't know anybody who has. You can always get affidavits in a campaign, but they don't mean anything."

Neither to Run

Allred is having a great deal of fun and publicity mystifying the State about his intentions. But the best-informed opinion here, pointing to the fact that Myron Blalock, chairman of Allred's state Democratic executive committee, is openly reported as the manager of Col. E. O. Thompson's gubernatorial campaign, still predict confidently that Allred will not run. They say it is absurd to think that Blalock and other strong Allred supporters who are boosting Thompson, would commit themselves unless they knew what Allred's intentions are. They predict that the governor's race will be between McCraw and Thompson, when the gong rings, and those two red-heads, both excellent campaigners, are expected to put on a real political show.

About Platforms

Platforms probably will be forthcoming from both candidates soon after Jan. 1. Little is known about McCraw's ideas on public questions, as most of the Attorney General's numerous speeches have been of the humorous variety. Thompson, on the other hand, known as a deep student of government, is on record many times. He is an ardent believer in State's rights, and he fought off Federal control of the oil industry. He has recently declared for a cessation of new taxation, and expressed confidence that industry in Texas will solve the state's financial problems through existing tax levies, if not strangled to death with new burdensome tax imports. He is known to favor strict limitation of old age assistance to those actually in need, so that more liberal allotments can be paid out of present revenues to those really needy. McCraw advocated civil service for state employes once, before a legislative committee; while Thompson's friends say the Amarilloan doesn't particularly favor this, believing that a public official ought to have the right to oust his employes if they do not deliver the goods on the job. At least, that has been Thompson's policy as a Railroad Commissioner.

Session Prospects

Prospects of another special session became somewhat more remote, as Gov. Allred stood pat on his determination not to call the legislators. Meanwhile banking circles reported that negotiations looking toward an extension of the monthly partial payment plan of retiring the $1,600,000 of old age pension warrants held by a Dallas banking syndicate, have been under way with the Board of Control, and are progressing satisfactorily. Under this plan, expected to be agreed upon formally shortly after January 1, sizeable monthly payments will be made, leaving sufficient revenue in the pension fund to continue pension payments on about the present basis, thus keeping everybody happy. Social security benefits for dependent children, the blind and the school teachers could be deferred until the 1939 regular session, many "economy bloc" members believe, without serious hardship upon either of these groups.

Notes

Formal announcement was made by John Woods, state highway commissioner from East Texas, that he will run for Railroad Commissioner, against Chairman C. V. Terrell . . . Assumption of his duties as a member of the Board of Control Jan. 2 by former Senator Tom DeBerry, of Red River county, succeeding John F. Wallace, will mark the only important change in State government at the year's end. Senator DeBerry, a thorough and an able liberal, made "the Splivins boys" famous during his long service in the Senate, and is one of Austin's most popular public characters.

COURTESY

A certain rigid Emily Post adherent has a vivid memory of western courtesy.

She was struggling with a cup of hot coffee in a small-town railway station, trying to drink it before the train pulled out. A cowboy, seated nearby, noted her plight and seeing the guard waving to the woman, came to the fore.

"Here, ma'am, you can take my cup of coffee. It's already saucered and blowed."

The gargler who imitates a waterfall for the radio is getting the razz from his wife. She says he talks shop last thing before bed and first thing in the morning.

Boogy: What are you taking for that cold of yours, old man.

Woogy: Only advice.

14. Bang each card on the table. It helps to keep your partner awake.

A MOIST WELCOME

During the war American soldiers in England refused to have their spirits dampened by the dense fogs.

The colonel of a regiment, making a night tour of a certain camp, was challenged by a sentry who had been standing at his post for two hours in a driving rain.

"Who's there?" said the sentry."

"Friend," replied the colonel.

"Welcome to our mist!" said the sentry.

Janey: Mother, when people are in mourning, do they wear black pajamas and black night gowns?

Mother: No, dear, of course not.

Janey: But don't they feel just as sad at night as they do in the daytime?

China's Shrine in Hands of Invader

Beauty seldom means much to grim men of war—relentless fighters such as the Japanese pictured in top photo—advancing cautiously over ruins of destroyed houses as they pushed past the magnificent tomb of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, father of the Chinese republic, and on to Nanking. The imposing mausoleum, shrine of all China, shown in lower photo, was almost the only structure left unburned by Chinese retreating to Nanking's walls. They said: "even the Japanese will not desecrate this tomb."

Quixie Bea King Is Elected Personality Queen

Quixie Bea King, senior from Lamesa, received 260 votes to win a 41 plurality over June Day in Saturday's run-off for college personality queen. Dids Meek of Lamesa polled 134 votes on the final ballot.

Seven candidates were nominated from the floor in Tuesday's assembly, and Dids Meek led the first ballot with 179 votes. Miss King received 139 votes and 118 were cast for Miss Day in the first election. Other nominees were: Virginia Murray, Canyon; Virginia Hohlaus, Lockney; Maridora Blair, Hartley; and Ferne Fry, Floydada.

QUIXIE BEA KING

Miss King is a Spanish major and president of Cousins Hall. She is a member of Delta Zeta Chi and Madrigal Club. She was graduated from Lamesa High School in 1934 and attended Texas Wesleyan College at Fort Worth before transferring here in 1936. She was candidate for "Smile Queen" in her sophomore year at T. W. C.

The election was in charge of Glyndon Riley, business manager of Le Mirage. The personality queen's picture will be given a prominent position in this year's Le Mirage. Coronation ceremonies will be held during the second semester. Beauties selected by McClelland Barclay, well-known New York illustrator, will be attendants to the queen at the coronation. Pictures of campus beauties will be sent Mr. Barclay, and he will select four.

A dance, sponsored by the inter-club council, is planned to follow the coronation.

Dow Gets Recognition On "Little All-American"

Lwood Dow, graduating three-year letterman at fullback for the Buffaloes, was given honorable mention on the "Little All-American" team selected by the Associated Press Thursday.

That the quality of the smaller colleges of the nation are strongest in the Southwest is indicated by the mention that five of the first stringers were from this region. Burns McKinney of Hardin-Simmons was placed on the first squad at quarterback.

LWOOD DOW

Though Dow has led the scoring for the Bisons during the last three seasons, his all-around play this year was much more impressive than ever before. He received a hand injury in the Hardin-Simmons games and was laid up for three games, but his value to the team was indicated when he returned to the lineup.

Dow's average yards gained per down this year was 6.15 which includes every time that he carried on punt returns or pass interceptions as well as times from scrimmage. He annexed 558 yards in the 89 times he carried the ball.

Laboratory Work Is Stressed For Aggie Students

Laboratory work in agriculture at West Texas State is being done in a manner considerably more serious and productive than that of many recent years.

In making this assertion, Prof. Frank R. Phillips, head of the department, conceded that students vary much in attitudes from year to year. The present student body at West Texas State, while as fun-loving perhaps as any of the College's history, also reveals the capacity for serious application to studies. This is particularly true of those students who are nearing graduation and wish to make a good record in their major subject.

The agriculture department is emphasizing its laboratory work, in keeping with the greater amount of research being done now in all agricultural subjects. The department has about 140 students.

Expansion of laboratory work has made two student assistants necessary. These are Russell Taylor of Gatesville, and George Smith of Hereford. The other faculty member of the department is Prof. T. M. Moore.

"The Rest of the Record"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

Jim Ferguson has resumed publication of the Forum, which he stopped immediately after my nomination in the first primary last year. Charging both the National and State Governments with insincerity, ignorance and inexperience, Old Jim has a six-point platform; but says that he hasn't, as yet, selected a candidate.

It is, however, perfectly obvious that Ferguson is going to make another proxy campaign for Governor. Ferguson plans have been brewing for several months. All the talk is that Mrs. Ferguson probably will run, but one or two other known candidates for Governor have been flirting with Old Jim to get the Ferguson support. It is regretably apparent that Texas is in for another ordeal and we had just as well get ready for it.

The Ferguson platform is typical of his audacity. It has about 57 varieties of promises, one to appeal to every class of voters. He is going to economize twenty million dollars by increasing expenditures sixty million! He is going to help the poor by taxing them! A little sop for everybody!

Ferguson is for paying a pension of $30 a month to everybody over 65 whether they need it or not; yet he proposes to take away from the needy old people who are now receiving aid from the State the cigarette, liquor and other taxes now going into that fund. He says he will use these taxes to abolish the State ad valorem taxes. That would relieve from taxation the oil companies now paying on their wells and leases; the insurance and loan companies now paying ad valorem taxes on skyscraper buildings; and it would make tax free all of the vast acres of land now owned by non-resident individuals and foreign corporations.

Ferguson's platform is silent on some other issues in which the people are interested. Of course, he couldn't discuss the question of adequately taxing oil and sulphur because he is against that. He doesn't say anything about race track gambling because every gambler and racketeer in the country knows how the race track law got on the statute books under the Ferguson administration; and every racketeer and gambler, even those who have been driven out of the State under this administration, would welcome the return of Ferguson, or anybody who thinks like him because they would not be molested under the Ferguson idea of government.

Old Jim doesn't say anything about the child labor amendment because he knows that while the labor organizations and women's clubs are for it, thousands of other people are against it. He doesn't say anything about liquor and open saloons, yet everybody knows where he stands on that question.

Ferguson says he wants to abolish boards and commissions; yet he never made an effort during the two terms he served as Governor himself and the two trems he served as proxy Governor to abolish any boards or commissions. On the contrary he caused many to be created by the Legislature. His real belief is that all departments of government ought to be abolished in favor of one useless department —himself.

Ferguson has always been a great hand to try to take advantage of the people when they are in distress. When we were in the middle of the depression he wanted to make it more cruel by passing a general sales tax on the necessities of life—bread and beans, milk and medicine, blue shirts and overalls. Now that we are in what may turn out to be another depression, he proposes the same panacea and hopes to get by with promising a pension for everybody when he, himself, fought the adoption of the present pension amendment.

I repeat, regrettable as it is, we are in for another ordeal of Fergusonism, and we had just as well get ready to meet it.

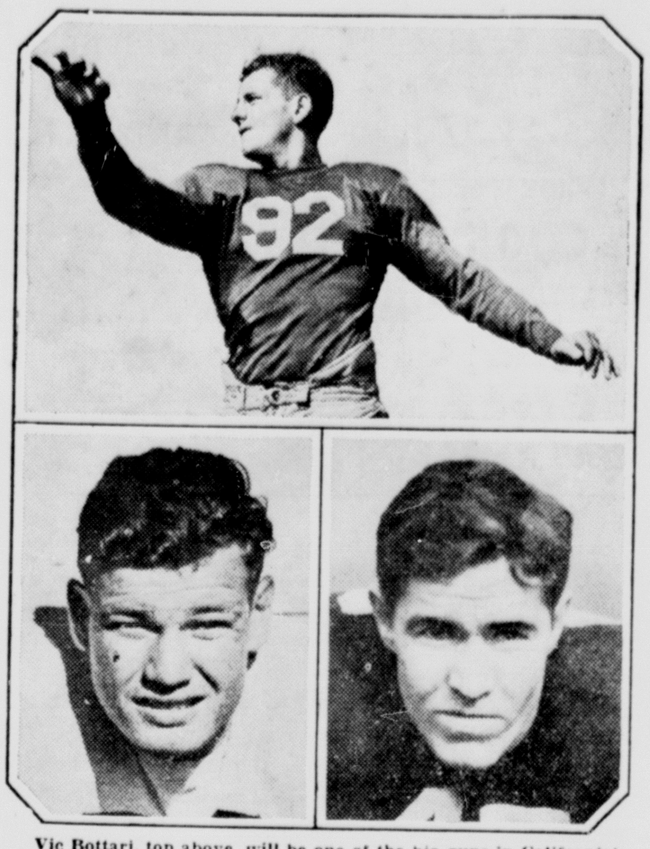
Greater Speed Gives California Edge Over Crimson Tide in Rose Bowl Battle

BY IRVING DIX



Vic Bottari, top above, will be one of the big guns in California's attack when the Golden Bears meet Alabama in the Rose Bowl, New Year's Day. Starring in the 'Bama line will be Perron Shoemaker, left below, and Walt Merrill, end and tackle respectively.

THE Golden Bears by the length of a whisker.

That, folks, is our last-gasp gridiron guess of the year—picking California to triumph over Alabama in the colorful Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day.

The Bears, the pride of the Golden Slope, coached by Leonard (Stub) Allison, and sparked by the best all-round backfield in the nation, must be granted a slight edge over the Crimson Tide, the only undefeated and untied major team in the country, incidentally.

This is the Tide's fifth trip to Pasadena, and the Red Elephants have yet to taste defeat in the blue-ribbon classic. But this year, if you will accept cold-blooded comparisons, Frank Thomas' lads will hit the skids.

The 1937 edition of Berkeley power and brawn is one of the most remarkable ever to perform in California livery. With the exception of Pitt, the Bears probably were the best blocking team in the country.

• • •

A FORWARD wall which averaged only 188 pounds, tore great gaps in opposing lines all fall, cut down tacklers like tenpins and stood like a stone wall on defense.

But that Bear backfield—there's a thing of beauty. Roly-poly John Meek, 210 pounds of devastating effectiveness as a blocker, calls signals. Stub Allison couldn't call 'em any better himself.

The sensational Vic Bottari performs at left half and has for a running mate, Sam Chapman, regarded by many as the best all-round back on the gridiron today.

Outstanding in the speedy Bear line are Perry Schwartz, end; Bill Stoll, tackle; Captain Bob Herwig, guard, and All-America Vard Stockton, guard.

But don't sell the Tide short. Joe Kilgrow, the best back in Dixie, is quite capable of making life miserable for any team. A great ball-carrier and passer, he'll get able support from fullback Charley Holm, quarterback Vic Bradford, and halfback George Zivich, who is a great blocker.

Two great ends in Tut Warren and Perron Shoemaker are ever-dangerous targets for Kilgrow's bullet-like passes, while tackle Jim Ryba and guard LeRoy Monsky are among the best in the business.

• • •

THE Crimson Tide will have a decided pull in the weights, with a line averaging 195 and a backfield of 180, but football games aren't won with brawn alone these days. And that's why those high-geared Golden Bears are regarded so highly.

Not that Alabama will be a pushover. Nothing like it. The Tide is one of the most powerful teams Frank Thomas ever has turned out. In fact it wouldn't come as a stunning shock if the Red Elephants came through for their fifth Rose Bowl victory.

But right now we're thinking of that California speed and versatility, and there our judgment rests.

IT'S MERRY CHRISTMAS TIME AGAIN!

PROPRIETY

Old Mrs. McDuff was seriously ill. Her doctor warned her, "I must operate without delay."

To his relief she consented, but only with the understanding that the minister must be present.

"But—what for?" asked the astonished doctor. "What good could the minister do? I never heard of such a proposal!"

"Maybe no," retorted Mrs. McDuff, calmly. "I ken that doctors is maistly heathens. But I ken whit's decent an' fittin'. An' I tell ye, if I'm to be opened at a', I'll be opened wi' prayer."

Mrs. Neerby: What a pretty new purse! But you shouldn't buy so many new things. People in your circumstances should be thrifty. See my purse? It's the one I bought before I was married 20 years ago.

Mrs. Skjold: That's nothing. Do you know my husband, John?

Mrs. Neerby: Of course I do. What about him?

Mrs. Skjold: Well, he's my first husband, and you've had four. Don't you preach thrift to me.

Mrs. Newbride: I took the recipe for this cake out of the cook book.

Hubby: You did perfectly right, dear. It never should have been put in.
